Lydia's Message To Women

Those of Middle Age Especially.

When you have found no remedy for the honors that oppress you during change of life, when through the long hours of the day it seems as though your back would break, when your head aches constantly, you are nervous, depressed and suffer from those dreadful bearing down pains, don't forget that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the safest and surest remedy, and has carried hundreds of women safely through this critical period.

Read what these three women say:

From Mrs. Horning, Buffalo, N. Y.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—"I am writing to let you know how much your medicine has done for me. I failed terribly during the last winter season, and was so weak and nervous that I could not do anything. I suffered from a female trouble and always had pain in my back, no appetite and at times was very weak. "I was visiting at a friend's home one day and she thought I needed Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it and have gained eight pounds, have a good appetite and am feeling better every day. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. You may publish this letter if you wish and I hope others who have the same complaint will see it and get health from your medicine as I did."—Mrs. A. HORNING, 91 Stanton St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Was A Blessing To This Woman.

So. RICHMOND, VA.—"I was troubled with a bearing down pain and a female weakness and could not stand long on my feet. Of all the medicines I took nothing helped me like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now regular and am getting along fine. Cannot praise the Compound too much. It has been a blessing to me and I hope it will be to other women."—Mrs. D. TYLER, 23 West Clayton St., South Richmond, Va.

Pains In Side, Could Hardly Stand.

LYNN, WIS.—"I was in a bad condition, suffering from a female trouble, and I had such pains in my side I could hardly move. Before I had taken the whole bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt better, and now I am well and can do a good day's work. I tell everybody what your medicine has done for me."—Mrs. JOHN THOMPSON, Lynn, Wisconsin.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored to many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM, 235 WEST CLAYTON ST., BUFFALO, N. Y. (CONFIDENTIAL LETTER, MARK, for advice. A woman and held in strict confidence.)

nated their battle hoping to stop the loss and a further spread of the malady.

Mr. Jerome Brown, Springfield, was in our midst Thursday on business.

Messrs. H. K. Cortalinger and Vivian Tatum were at High Bridge Tuesday last.

Mr. J. W. S. Clements of Louisville visited relatives at this place last week.

Messrs. J. Y. Mayes and S. B. Yeager recently purchased a house from Walter Gosley.

Miss Dora Lee of Louisville visited relatives here last week.

Mr. W. S. Y. Goodlett, Bardonia was in our midst last week.

The recent showers have been very beneficial to us but we are in need of good soaking rain to mature the corn crop, while tobacco is doing nicely at present considering the weather conditions.

An Unusual Summer.

According to the weather bureau in Louisville the present summer has been a very unusual one. Never before in the records of the last forty-two years at the weather bureau has a thermometer failed to reach 90 degrees by July 16. The warmest day of the year to that time was in April, when it reached 99 degrees. There has been an unusual amount of rainfall this summer, especially in the present month. The "weather man" does not place much credence in the stories to the effect that the countess in Europe has been causing undue precipitation in this country. Rain depends on the condition of the atmosphere he said and can only come when the atmosphere is saturated, which is always full of moisture when the ground is wet and the streams flowing.

What is a Garden Will Do.

What is it that will reduce the cost of living? Will make you and your family more healthful and contented? Will provide beneficial exercise and entertainment for you and your family?

Will direct your mind from the cares of your regular occupation? Will keep your children out of mischief and teach them thrift and industry?

Will make your wife feel she has a new home?

Will save you money?

According to an impressive little booklet issued by the Alexander Co. Operators' association, a garden will do all these things.

"Well," said Senator Stone, "I will not about your discharge tomorrow. I cannot willingly consent to let a confessed criminal like you remain in this penitentiary, where you may corrupt the morals of so many honest men."

An Aid to Dignity.

"I didn't realize until this dancing car swept over the country and our degenerate began to hop out of ballroom floors that rheumatism and the cure was blessings in disguise."

"What do you mean?" "Those two complaints have prevented a great many old ladies and gentlemen from making themselves ridiculous by trying to dance the tango and the latest trot."

Diagnosed.

"I haven't seen Hamanndaw for weeks." "No; he hasn't been out of the house since his accident." "Was he seriously injured?" "No; but he feels the disgrace deeply." "Diagnosed?" "Yes; after living in the heart of the city all his life, he went to the country one day last week and was seen by a mud wagon."

Uncommon brilliant Victory.

One hundred years ago Gen. Persh and L. Chloren, in command of the Mississippi militia, attacked and defeated the Creek Indians at Eneochou, or the "Holly Ground." The Indian settlement consisted of 300 houses. It was totally destroyed, together with a large quantity of provisions. The Americans lost six men in the conflict. Next day they destroyed a town composed of 60 houses a few miles up the river. Eneochou was situated on the Alabama river about 216 miles above Fort Claiborne and 195 miles above Fort Stoddard. General Claiborne, the commander of the expedition, belonged to a famous Virginia family that settled in Mississippi, and gave to the last named State a number of noted soldiers and statesmen.

"State's Rights" in British Empire.

It has been urged that the imperial government cannot interfere in the affairs of a self-governing dominion. But the doctrine does not cover all the facts. This is a question which goes beyond South Africa. It touches India closely; it is a question which the Indian government clearly cannot settle, and which South Africa has failed to settle. Yet it is a question on which the Indian government has a right to speak, since the future of the people of South Africa are so deeply dependent on its settlement. Most we must admit that on a question which involves two parts of the empire and the welfare of the whole, the imperial government cannot interpose Saturday Review.

Filled Many High Offices.

One hundred years ago Samuel J. Kirkwood, filled many high positions in the public service, was born in Hartford county, Md. In early life he went Ohio, and after twenty years later he moved to Iowa, of which state he became governor and served through the period of the Civil war. He was elected United States senator in 1875. In 1875 he was again elected governor of Iowa, but resigned the office a few days after his inauguration to accept the United States secretary of the interior. He was elected March 5, 1881, he filled the position of secretary of the interior in President Garfield's cabinet. Mr. Kirkwood died at his home in Iowa Oct. 10.

Care on Your Legs.

David Fairchild, who has hunted the world for plants to grow in the United States and introduced them into this country, has communicated some interesting facts about insects to the National Geographic society, which has in turn given them to the public. He says the caterpillar of the king grasshopper, with the ability to jump one hundred times its length and can sail upon thousands of miles before the wind. The cricket is described as a powerful singer, its shrill note sometimes being heard a mile away. The males alone are musical, and the females listen to their melodious voices with great interest. It would hardly be expected that they would be such fighters among themselves as they are, cannibals, eating each other when they are not enough other and at hand. The ants are described as communists, because the individual interest is merged in the community. There is a female grubs colony. The workers are females, the soldiers are females, the nurses are females, and there is one queen mother for them all, who lays all the eggs for the colony. The males are but males for the young ones.—The Christian Herald.

Aeroplane of Sea.

Warship design is already being affected by the rapid development of the hydroaeroplane, or flying boat as it is better known. American naval architects believe that the hydroaeroplane will be an important auxiliary arm in future sea warfare. The small size of these flying machines, combined with the fact that they can be made to align with certainty upon a predetermined area of small dimensions, makes it quite possible that the equipment of the superdreadnaught of the near future will include one or more hydroaeroplanes, together with such a leading platform. It is by no means improbable that large passenger vessels will be similarly equipped at a not very far distant date, as the value of a hydroaeroplane in the event of such a disaster as that of the Titanic might be incalculable.

Lands of the Menzies.

An announcement that Otago and other Highland estates of the Menzies are for sale recalls the interesting fact that the boat used by the Oxford crew for the very first victory race is still in existence. She was discovered about 1845 in a boat house at Oxford by two old blades, the late Mr. Fletcher Menzies and his brother, Sir Robert Menzies, who carried her off to Perthshire. With the assistance of seven allies they tried to navigate in her the treacherous waters of Loch Rannoch, but a storm drove, and the daring mariners nearly came to grief. She was finally towed ashore, and is now, or was, hanging from the roof of the boat house at Otago—London Chronicle.

Validity of the Tuttle Rule.

The supreme court of North Carolina, held in Term at former City Hall school that "where a private school, according to its catalogue, required the payment of tuition in advance, and this catalogue was sent to a parent who sent his child to the school, the parent was liable for full tuition, notwithstanding the expulsion of the child on reasonable grounds, the rule is established that the tuition would be forfeited on expulsion."

Message No. 1

To the Business Men of Springfield

When a good salesman goes out after business he first puts on a clean collar and gets his shoes shined. Then he looks like more business—and he's made a flying start toward getting it.

Likewise, a community can go after more business—and get it. The "clean collar and shiny shoes" of the town are the well-kept stores, the homes, the houses, the clean-looking buildings. The part you play in building up your town, cannot be put in figures—but its good effects are recorded on the local merchants' sales sheets. Buy good paint. We recommend and sell

Let the Child Name Itself.
Why (writes a correspondent to the London Chronicle) should not infants be numbered and allowed to choose their own names on attaining years of discretion? It would free parents from great responsibilities and also from lifelong reproaches from old children whom in moments of enthusiasm they have nominated Ebenezer, Theodosius or that baby girl whom her petriotoid father named after the Czar who bestowed the name "Modestia Robertina." Such a name as that can never be lived down, it handicaps a woman because it follows her age.
